Dear Hardship Committee,

9/3/2015

This letter is in support of a hardship request for Santley Chee. Stanley has been in and out of many school districts in his educational career due to the lack of a stable home. He is currently living with the Sizemore family in Creswell. They are not his legal guardians.

Stanley will be entering his 11th grade year and will be in his 4th high school in that time. Stanley's parents, who are divorced, have severe drug and alcohol issues that make it unsafe and unhealthy for Stanley to live with either of them. His father lives in Texas and his mother in jail on drug charges.

If you take a look at Stanley's transcript it will tell a very unique story. As a freshman, he started at Round Valley High School (AZ), transferred to Creswell (to live with Grandma) and then back to Round Valley. In the process he was only able to get 1 credit and entered his sophomore year way behind. He attended Mcnell High School in Texas and took extra classes in order to get caught up. He earned 9.5 credits in one school year. Stanley is now on track to graduate. He did this in a poor living situation that included large amounts of substance abuse. Upon coming to Oregon this summer Stanley was essentially homeless with no regular place to live and stay.

Stanley met the Sizemore's at a youth church outing about a month ago. They have since taken him in and provided him with a place that is both stable and loving. Being able to play sports would be an important piece for him to continue to be successful. We monitor academic progress in our student athletes every two weeks and offer 6 study hall sessions a week for athletes that are struggling. Please consider this request and let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Jordan Osborn

Dear OSAA,

I am typing this letter to address the fact that I am living with someone other than my birth parents. I am a 16 year old Navajo (Native American) male. My passion is anything athletic especially football and basketball. Now that that is over we can address the elephant in the room. My mother is in jail and uses drugs. I love her with all my heart but she cares more about herself then she does me or my brothers. My father is becoming an abusive alcoholic that also cares more about himself than me. I have constantly been affected by my parents decisions and have only searched for stability as well as tranquility. Since I have arrived at the sizemore's my life has done a 180 degree turn in a direction I can say my family and myself as well my peers will be proud of. Since coming to this gracious and kind household I have become so much closer to god then I have in any point of my life. I have also grown more as a person then ever before. The things I had searched for in the past like stability and tranquility have been found by coming to this household. Never before in my life have I felt more loved and appreciated. My Father's alcohol abuse almost made me lose all my credits for my sophomore year. He sent me to Oregon to live with my mother and she was gonna sign me up to school. So I came to Oregon with high expectations. And they got crushed because my mom said she had signed me up for school even though that was a big lie because when I showed up no one had ever heard of me which was very embarrassing. Also during this time I was surrounded by drug addicts and very bad people. This all happened because my father had a problem with me telling him that there was always beer and vodka in the fridge but never milk or food. I Also mentioned that I wanted things to change so we could have a family and all he did was get physical with me which resulted in me going to Oregon. Since Oregon had not worked out i went back to that same terrible situation where things got much worse. But I stayed strong and dealt with all of the fiascos in order to go to summer school. Now I have 10.5 credits and i'm on track to graduate with my class. That was only possible because of my will and determination. Mind you I had 0.5 credits in the beginning of my sophomore year. In the sizemore household I have stability morale support and people who care about me. Being surrounded in an environment like I am with the sizemore's i can strive for success and greatness rather then just barely getting by. One more thing to show my commitment and how I want to change the direction of my life, I used to smoke weed about a 6 months ago and I made the decision myself to stop in order to make sure I was successful while my dad had encouraged it.

I met Stanley Chee for the first time on August 3rd. He was on his way to our church's youth camp. He had just arrived back in Oregon the previous week. Stanley did very well in the youth camp. He made many new friends and made a new commitment to stay in the youth program and continue to attend our church.

I had heard things about Stanley, and honestly am glad that he is nothing like what I expected. He has been with us in our home now since August 23rd. He has been respectful, kind and very helpful around the house and on the farm. He has acted just the opposite of what I had expected from a child coming out of his background and circumstances. It seems that he is thriving in a new and safe environment where he can grow. He has committed to stay in school and is looking forward to playing on the high school football team where is excited to make a difference as a team player.

He has shown that he is willing to submit to our rules regarding all of our children and family of which he is now a part.

When we met Stanley he wanted to turn over a new leaf and make a new life for himself. He wanted to do things right and get his life on track. He has shown through his actions and his attitude that he is working hard at doing just that.

We are very happy to help Stanley on his new journey in life and are looking forward to watching him grow here, in the youth group and in his walk as a young Christian man.

Dear Hardship Committee,

9/3/2015

I have tried to contact Stanley's old high school in Texas on several occasions. They have not responded to email or phone calls regarding Stanley. Therefore, I do not have a letter from his previous high school. Brad Garrett at the OSAA recommended I put this in writing to the committee in place of that letter. Let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Jordan Osborn
