

Josai High School, Tokyo Japan and Sweet Home High School have been in a cooperative sister school relationship for over 30 years. It is a private student exchange between our two schools. Students from Japan compete academically and must go through many interviews with their school advisors in order to be chosen to attend school in America. Sweet Home is the school of choice at Josai High School, although Josai also sends students to other schools as well.

These students are not selected on physical abilities, or for the sports they play or may play at the school. They are encouraged to get involved in the school in order to broaden their exposure to American culture and understanding.

Sincerely:

Suzette Andersen
Josai Advisor