Mike Solem - Principal

This letter is in regards to Armando Reyes. Upon starting high school, it was believed that Armando's learning difficulties were due to language barriers, ADHD, and laziness. Armando only earned 4 credits, and was moved to our alternative school. He only earned three credits; 1 ½ were work experience, and 1 was English Language Development (which he did not need due to the fact the he speaks English only) credits. I took over as Armando's case manager for his IEP (Individual Education Plan) at the end of his sophomore year. I did a review of his special education eligibility and completed some further testing. We discovered that he had been misidentified and has a specific learning disability. With the correct supports in place, he was able to be successful during his junior year. He passed all of his class and earned 8 credits. Armando is taking extra classes this year in order to graduate with his peers. I have attached a copy of his graduation plan.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.
