

To whom it Concern,

I just wanted to give you a update on my son, Leo last year we did have to pull him out of swimming because of his grades, But this year already seen improvement, He struggled last year with no motivation really for anything, I just got done with his conferences and the teachers are Raving about his attitude has changed and getting his work done, I think that swimming would be a great time for him to enjoy, for all his hard work.

Thank you so much
