To whom it may concern:

My name is Jeffery Walker and I am Amir Walker's father. I am writing this hardship letter on behalf of Amir, on the things he's had to endure over the past year. Amir is a great kid and does well when he's focused. He had some extreme challenges, trying to be kid as well as taking on the responsibility of taking care of his Mother when she was met with some health problems. His Mother also has a one year old so Amir had to be there to help her. And with that being said, he missed a lot of school and fell behind. It is his father have noticed a change in him when he's in a stable environment he seems to be more on track, and now living with me his attendance has been at an overall 85% and as of 10-6-15 is at 100%. So far this school year Amir has received two credits as of now, and should be at seven by 12-1-15. Amir has been faced with a lot of challenges and stressors as a teenager. I believe that organized school sports would be a positive outlet for Amir and help his self-esteem. As you ~~to~~ know when kids have too much free time they tend to make the wrong decision, as a parent I have those concerns. Amis is back in my house where I can give him the structure needed to succeed on the wide ~~pas~~ track. I'm hoping school athletics can help.

Thank you,
J. Walker
