Hi, Todd-

I have not talked with Taren about credit recovery, but I just reviewed his transcript and grades...Given that he only earned 7 credits in his first two years, he will probably need an additional year to graduate. With SpEd that should not be a problem. I don't know how that works with OSAA...

He could do math in summer school for recovery. I just cannot recommend that he take on additional classes on top of his current load by adding SUN. Seems like he needs to focus on passing the classes he already has. An additional concern is the shortage of in-class recovery classes; many are now online and not appropriate for students who struggle. For instance, MEWA offers online classes but the reading level is quite high and won't work for someone who struggles with written language.

Is this going to work for the hardship?
