Westview High School

Attn: Cheryl Ashdown

Dear Cheryl,

I'm writing to explain my daughter, Emma Williams' recent medical issues. These issues required Emma to decrease her hours during her fall term at Westview.

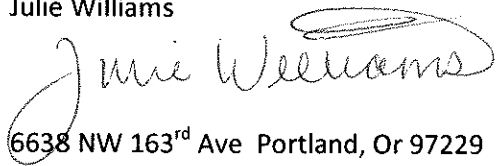

Emma was in the intensive care unit for 4 days with "septic shock" as known as "sepsis". Upon her discharge Emma was directed by her physicians to rest and recover from her illness, to except a slow recovery. After 2 weeks out of school, Emma attempted to go back full time and quickly realized she was unable to do so due to extreme fatigue, anxiety induced by the overwhelming amount of homework, and a minor relapse medically.

Emma has since made a full recovery and is attending class part time, as well as recently enrolled in BYU's high school courses to catch up on her schooling.

If you have any questions or need further information, please reach out to me.

Graciously,

Julie Williams
