Wade:

Evan showed up before I could open your message, but our conversation was productive. There is nothing currently in the grading pipeline and then next assessment will not come until after Spring Break. Based on the progress that I have seen lately, I consider Evan to have a "Provisional Proficient," that is, a C for right now, that overrides the grade book. It is important that he be recognized and rewarded in both the short and long term.

Hi Paul and Jon,

I am looking at the possibility of writing a hardship for Evan Hill-Verhines for golf. I have noticed that he is not passing your classes. I am just confirming that Synergy is up to date and if there is anything he can do to work with you to bring his grades up. I think this would be good for him but he needs to be passing all of his classes in order for me to make this appeal. I have asked him to speak with both of you as soon as possible as well.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter
