

In response to the situation of why I'm missing credits, and thus not being allowed to compete, I, Mariah Reed, was an exchange student from the year 2014-2015, missing my junior year, furthermore this absence has been noted on my transcript by saying I am behind in credits. I'm currently working on getting these credits back by attending my seven regular classes and working on completing four online classes. I have also asked my school in Ecuador, the country in which I went to, to send a letter stating I was a student and get some credits from the work I did while attending school during my year abroad. My mother understands the situation and is completely on-board with me playing tennis. I am currently on track to graduate and am close to completing my online classes, and after I complete my online classes I will thus be on track to graduate. My mother is confident in my ability to multitask by playing tennis and completing all my classes in order to graduate on time. \

Sincerely,

Mariah Reed
