

Subject: Re: Hardship for JD

From: llucir <llucir@junctioncity.k12.or.us>

Date: 4/12/2016 2:18 PM

To: Craig Rothenberger <crothenberger@junctioncity.k12.or.us>

CC: Kate Gillow-Wiles <kgillowwiles@junctioncity.k12.or.us>, Jared Brougher <jbrougher@junctioncity.k12.or.us>

To whom it may concern,

Jamie Darcy is an intelligent young woman who struggles with staying focused with academics which effects her grades negatively. She is creative, energetic, talented, and unfortunately, doesn't have the attention span to apply those talents toward school work. Although, when she is very interested in the subject, she tends to stay more focused and excels. She has demonstrated this in her language arts classes. Furthermore, Jamie has passed more classes now that she is involved in sports than she has before. She is motivated and I believe that being part of track is going to positively effect her academic achievement.

Leslie Lucir

Special Education/Spanish Teacher

Junction City High School

llucir@junctioncity.k12.or.us

541-998-2343 x102